

AMERICANS, CANADIANS DRIVE ON PALERMO

The War
Today...By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

It certainly gives one a grateful feeling of security to hear Vice Admiral Frederick Horne, vice-chief of naval operations, say the Navy is planning for a Pacific war "that will last at least until 1949," but it's equally good to note that he doesn't specifically state he believes the conflict necessarily will run that long.

Six more years might not mean much to a tortoise which has an expectancy of 200 years of life. But it's an awfully long time to the average citizen who is looking forward to the day when he can take his car out of storage and drive into the countryside for a steak smothered with onions.

When James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, was asked about the admiral's statement he replied: "If anyone else is planning on that basis, I do not know that they are." T. V. Soong, China's astute foreign minister who is now in Washington, remarked that it's "anybody's guess" how long the fight with Japan will last—and that seems to be a fair assay of the situation.

One thing we're sure of is that whatever the duration of the war, it will be plenty long and painful. Its length and bloodshed and privations will depend mainly on civilian efforts in producing sinews of victory. We must neither allow ourselves to grow slack because of over-confidence, nor become despondent—and therefore inefficient—for fear of a long war.

Unfortunately the amount of striking power the Allies could turn against Japan has been largely dependent on the demands of the European conflict. However, things are looking decidedly brighter in the Pacific as our industrial efforts begin to pay off. It's encouraging—though surely nothing to cause complacency—to see the United States go on the offensive against the Mikado's forces at the same time as the Allies launch their "beginning of the end" drives in Europe.

As witness to our progress we have yesterday's great Allied air raid on Bairoko harbor, New Georgia, when 150 bombers dumped 133 tons of grief on the Japs. This was a companion piece to last Saturday's huge aerial attack by 192 of our warplanes on Kahili, Japan's key base in the Solomons, when nine enemy ships, including a cruiser and three destroyers were sunk.

The field of Allied aggressiveness covers the whole vast Pacific area. Our warships again have blasted the Japanese defenses on Kiska Island, up in the Aleutians, in preparation for invasion. The time has come when the amphibious assault which will return Kiska to American hands. That will lessen the Jap threat to Alaska and give us another important air-base within reach of enemy territory.

Almost coincident with the Kiska raid, American bombers made the first raid on Japan's northernmost island base—Paramushiro, on the tip of the Kurile chain. We apparently were operating from Amchitka, in the western Aleutians, demonstrating the fact that we can reach out to Jap territory from our own bases.

At the same time American Liberators from Australia blasted Celebes. These two raids, each of which represented a round trip of about 2,000 miles, are among the longest bombing flights on record. That's something for the Japs to worry about.

GREET BISHOP ON ARRIVAL IN
YOUNGSTOWNMcFadden Installed Today
At Rites Following Welcome Last Night

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, July 22.—In a towered St. Columba's church, the Most Rev. James A. McFadden today was installed as first bishop of the newly-created Youngstown Catholic diocese and spiritual leader of nearly 150,000 parishioners in industrial Mahoning valley.

Church hierarchy, hundreds of monsignori, priests and nuns, and laity crowded the stately, 40-year-old edifice to witness the centuries-old ritual conducted by Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati.

Following a brief procession which includes two archbishops and 17 bishops, the head of the new see and Archbishop McNicholas proceeded to the altar of the church, which now becomes St. Columba's cathedral and seat of the diocese embracing Mahoning, Columbiana, Trumbull, Stark, Portage and Ashland counties.

Bishop McFadden, ordained to the priesthood 38 years ago in his native Cleveland and recently auxiliary bishop and chancellor of that diocese, knelt at a prie-dieu as Archbishop McNicholas took his throne at the right of the altar. The bishop moved to the faldstool as the ecclesiastical decrees separating the six counties from the Cleveland diocese and appointing him head of the new see were read.

Recalls First Diocese
In a brief sermon following the installation, Archbishop McNicholas welcomed Bishop McFadden in the name of bishops of the ecclesiastical province of Cincinnati and to his place "at our council table."

"A hundred and a score years have passed since saintly Bishop Fenwick took possession of the first diocese in Ohio," the archbishop said. "This see comprised the entire state with administrative powers provisionally extended to Michigan and the northwest territory."

"Today we inaugurate the fifth and latest diocese of Ohio—the newly-created see of Youngstown. The first bishop of the state, a native son of Maryland, came to Cincinnati as an unwelcome citizen. His church was suspected and misunderstood. There was no clergy, no religious community, no gathering of faithful to welcome him. He had neither a church in which to worship God nor an abode in which to live."

The archbishop said Ohio had only about 3,000 Catholics when the church's first bishop was sent to the state, contrasting that number with the church's present membership of 1,500,000.

Schrems Unable to Attend
"Today, at this united body rejoices that Bishop McFadden, ordinary of the fifth diocese of Ohio, sets up a chair of spiritual authority in this state."

19 More Men Leave
For Army Service

The second army group of draftees in the July call, numbering 19 men, left yesterday afternoon for Fort Hayes, Columbus, where they will be assigned to training stations. Others inducted last week at the Akron examining center for service with the Navy already have been called.

George J. Hart of Columbiana was acting corporal of the contingent. Two men, held over for clinical observation, will leave Saturday.

The Salem Boosters club presented the men with cigarettes and candy as send-off gifts. Friends and relatives gathered at the station to see the servicemen leave.

FARM WAGE STUDY GROUP APPOINTED

LISBON, July 22.—The Columbiana County War Board has appointed a farm wage committee to study prevailing wage rates paid on farms in the county. A public hearing will be held where farmers may testify as to wage rates.

The group includes County Agent Floyd Lower of Lisbon, Galen Greenstein and George H. Rogers of Salem, G. H. Thompson of East Liverpool and Kim Crawford of Rogers.

Nazis Rush Reinforcements
In Attempt To Save Orel

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, July 22.—German reinforcements, rushed into the Orel breaches by forced marches, counter-attacked viciously in desperate effort to halt the Russian onslaught yesterday but were smashed back as the Soviet offensive rolled on to within nine miles of the German stronghold, the Russians announced today.

In a battle of increasing violence which raged 200 miles south of Moscow, the Russians said they beat through masses of enemy tanks and infantry for gains of four to nine miles and overran 90 villages.

Complete 11-mile Push
Soviet forces smashing frontally from the east had driven into Zolotarovo, 11 miles away.

The southern advance on the city was meeting the toughest German opposition and a Soviet communiqué said only that the Russians "continued to force ahead."

In yesterday's severe battles the Russians said they knocked out more than 77 tanks and 131 Nazi planes in the Orel sector alone.

Yesterday's Nazi losses brought the totals as announced by the Russians since July 5 to 3,393 tanks and 2,342 planes destroyed and more than 75,000 Germans slain.

(The Berlin radio, explaining the Nazi retreats as part of the high command's plan "to force the enemy to the greatest use and abuse of his forces" in battles of attrition "where the goal is not to gain ground," said 45,172 Russians had been taken prisoner and 4,827 tanks and 2,344 planes had been destroyed or captured since July 5.)

The campaign to collect the records will be held next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Legionnaires will collect the records from the milk depots, Merchants delivery and drug stores, pack and ship them. They must be ready for shipment by Saturday, July 31.

The Legion committee in charge, appointed by Commander Milton H. Critchfield, includes C. R. Haldi, chairman; R. L. Hutcheson, Harry Beardmore, George Slocum and N. C. Buchmann. Any member may be contacted for assistance or further information.

More Air Raid Shelters
For Big Cities Sought

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Too many people are "milling around" street corners of big American cities when air raid test alarms sound, said James F. Landis, director of Civilian Defense, in proposing today that more shelter areas be provided.

Otherwise commendable preparations against air raids have been "marred by a deplorable lack of streets" when the warnings sound, Landis declared in a statement. He urged all communities to canvass their shelter situation.

U.S. PILOTS HIT
BAIROKO WITH

da Reel Under Heaviest Pacific Attack

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 22.—United States bombers shattered Japanese positions at Bairoko harbor above Munda yesterday in the heaviest air attack ever made in the Southwest Pacific.

More than 15 Avenger torpedo bombers and Dauntless divers, operating under a strong fighter cover, pounded the area in a day-long series of raids.

"One hundred and thirty-three tons of bombs were dropped and the area was extensively strafed," the daily report from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said. "It was the heaviest air attack that has been executed by the Allied forces in the southwest Pacific area."

Surpass Jap Raids
A spokesman added that it also surpassed anything the Japanese ever had done.

The communiqué said the raid was made "in support of our ground forces." This might indicate American troops were advancing from Enogai inlet, two miles northeast, where last week they destroyed the entire Japanese garrison.

Bairoko is the supply base for Munda, key Japanese defense point in the Central Solomons, but Allied forces blocked traffic between the two points last week.

Only one sentence was used in reporting the ground action at Munda: "Enemy ground forces launched a strong counter attack and were repulsed with heavy losses."

(United States ground troops are within a "few thousand yards" of Munda airfield, which "now is in reach of capture," a spokesman for Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., announced today.)

Over Madang, New Guinea, twin-engine Lightnings won a smashing victory against a much greater Japanese force. The battle took place during an intensive, low altitude attack by our bombers.

"Enemy planes in force were engaged by our fighter escort," the communiqué said. "They were downed and dispersed, 19 being shot down and destroyed and 11 probably were destroyed. Two Allied planes were lost but one pilot is safe."

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a car and horse and buggy collision at the intersection of Route 534 and the Ellsworth-Palmyra rd., two miles north of Berlin Center, at 10:45 p. m. yesterday, the state patrol reported.

They were Clyde Barringer, 57, and George Foy, 9, of Berlin Center, who were in the horse-drawn vehicle. Alfred Landwert, 16, of 1122 Cleveland st., was the driver of the car which ran into the rear of the buggy.

Barringer and the boy were treated at a doctor's office near Berlin Center, and later admitted to Salem City hospital. Barringer suffered from shock and lacerations of the face and body. Foy had lacerations of the left arm, left eye and scalp.

SAMUEL EBERWEIN,
SHOP HEAD, DIES

Samuel J. Eberwein, 47, assistant superintendent of the Electric Furnace Co. for the last 20 years, died at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at his home, 450 E. Third st.

He had been ill of heart trouble since last February and for several days his condition had been critical. Mr. Eberwein was widely known throughout the city. He was born June 12, 1896, in Slaton, Pa., the son of Albert J. and Emma Eberwein. He was a graduate of Penn State university college of engineering and was a member of Perry lodge of Masons.

Surviving are his wife, the former Helen McClain; one son, Thomas, and two daughters, Eleanor and Marilyn, all at home; his father, Albert J. Eberwein, and one brother, George T. Eberwein, both of Slaton, Pa.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Stark memorial, in charge of Rev. Carl Asmus. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. at the memorial.

U.S. Submarine Triton, Jap
Nemesis, Is Believed Lost

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Navy announced today the American submarine Triton, bold raider of Japanese shipping, "must be presumed to be lost" on a war patrol.

The Triton, which had destroyed more than a dozen enemy warships and merchantmen, was commanded by Lieut. Commander George Kenneth MacKenzie, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The vessel carried a normal complement of about 60 men. It was the tenth United States undersea boat to be lost in this war, including eight lost as a result of combat in the Pacific and two as a result of non-combat incidents in the Atlantic.

On the other hand, United States subs have accounted for 283 Japanese ships sunk or damaged, including a total of 200 sunk.

The Navy department's communiqué No. 447, reporting on the latest casualty to the submarine force, said:

"The United States submarine Triton has failed to return from patrol operations and must be presumed to be lost. The next of kin of personnel have been informed."

104 Units Lost to Date
The last two previous submarines lost, also on war patrol in the Pacific, were the Amberjack and the Grampus.

Total losses of American naval vessels to date as announced by the Navy, including those sunk, overdue and destroyed to prevent capture, are 104 units, including the 10 submarines.

With the loss of the Triton, the Navy disclosed that it was this submarine which had figured in a report May 3 about an American undersea craft's sinking 11 enemy ships. This report covered the first year of the Triton's operations. During that year the submarine was commanded by Lieut. Commander Charles C. Kirkpatrick of Cocoa, Florida.

Kirkpatrick became the first submarine officer to receive three Navy crosses. After his year of service raiding Japanese supply lines he was assigned to Washington as flag lieutenant to Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet.

Under Kirkpatrick the Triton was credited with destroying one Japanese destroyer leader, one destroyer, one submarine, eight merchant ships and several lesser craft.

Among Ohio soldiers held prisoners of war by Germany, the War department announced today, are: Pvt. John W. Hanselman, son of John J. Hanselman of R.D. 2, Wellsville.

Pvt. Robert W. Hitchings, son of David W. Hitchings, R.D. 2, Canfield.

Pvt. Andrew E. Lifer, son of Mrs. Bertha Lifer, R.D. 3, Fredericktown.

EIGHT TOWNS
CAPTURED IN
NEW ADVANCESteamroller Drive Puts Americans Closer To Sicilian Capital

* By DANIEL DE LUCE
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 22.—The American Seventh army has captured Castelvetrano and Sciacca on the Sicilian south coast in a thunderbolt drive which has placed them but a little over 20 miles from the western tip of Sicily. Allied headquarters reported today.

These other places also were captured in the American sweep: San Stefano, Quisquina, only about 30 miles south of Palermo on the north coast and 40 miles west of Enna;

San Caterina, seven miles northwest of Caltanissetta and 28 miles south of the north coast;

Menfi, midway between Castelvetrano and Sciacca;

Caltabellotta, the Sciacca air-drome;

The air-drome at Castelvetrano; Bivona, 33 miles south of Palermo.

Ramacca, 22 miles southwest of Catania, also fell to the British. The American columns were approaching Palermo, the capital of Sicily, with a last mountain range guarding that vital spot.

More Troops Sunder
Castelvetrano is 50 miles west of Agrigento and Porto Empedocle, towns on the south coast captured by the Americans last Saturday and Sunday. Sciacca is about 30 miles west of these two places.

The American steamroller was making swift progress in a drive toward Palermo on the north coast, herding panicky Italians and their German Allies into the northeast corner of the island, and the Italian 26th Assault division was said to be surrendering almost en masse as Axis prisoners mounted to more than 40,000.

Along the east coast, however, fierce fighting continued between the Sicilian river and Catania where the German Hermann Goering armored division and fresh Nazi forces, including a parachute infantry battalion were contesting every inch of ground with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's eighth army.

The eighth army, however, was making steady, if slow, progress. The Italian debacle in central and western Sicily appeared to be on a scale comparable to Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's defeat at the hands of the British in the Libyan desert in 1941.

Every spark of fighting spirit appeared to have been stamped out in the ranks of an apathetic and disintegrating Italian army. New batches of prisoners complained that their officers were deserting them, wearing civilian clothing in an effort to escape.

Fierce fighting was taking place, the communiqué said, and "heavy casualties are being inflicted on the enemy."

Shelled By British Ships
A Reuters correspondent with the British fleet in the Mediterranean reported that British warships, again boldly steaming up to the Italian mainland, subjected Crotone on the gulf of Taranto to a heavy five-minute bombardment yesterday morning. This was the second attack by British surface ships on the Italian mainland of the war, the first was at Genoa on Feb. 9, 1941. The purpose evidently was to hamper shipment of reinforcements to Sicily by the circuitous east coast railway, now that the west coast line has been heavily hammered by bombings at Rome, Naples and elsewhere.

The Americans and Canadians were said to be chasing the retreating enemy northward in the general direction of the escape port of Messina, an advance which, if continued, would quickly put them in a position to strike at Catania from the rear.

(The Italian communiqué reported that a British twin-engine

CERTAINLY WERE OPTIMISTIC

A government campaign to talk the American public out of its "over-optimism" has been launched. Secretary of the Navy Knox says too much importance is assigned to minor military successes. He is backed up by Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of WPB, and Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, who has warned that the navy doesn't expect to be through with the war in the Pacific until the end of the decade.

Lt. Gen. Brehon D. Somervell, in charge of army procurement, shortly will go on tour with Mr. Wilson to tell war workers and management to work harder, instead of becoming complacent about the outcome of the war. "We must get over to workers and management the important story that continued success in our expanding war operations calls for tremendously greater quantities of munitions of all kinds," Mr. Wilson explained a few days ago when the forthcoming tour was announced.

These men will be joined by others, all trying to do the same thing. They will talk about the complacency of the public and urge the public to snap out of it. They will blame the newspapers and the radio, at least by implication, for spreading false optimism by reporting the news. There will be a repetition of the situation before Pearl Harbor and immediately afterward when officialdom was condemning the people for not taking the war more seriously and the people were complaining that Washington was in such a muddle that the people couldn't do as much as they wanted to do. And when it's all over, not only statistics, which can be twisted, but ordinary good sense, which resists twisting, will show that Americans did everything expected of them.

They are handicapped, it is true, but not by complacency or over-optimism. In the steel industry they have been held back by the government's inability to bring about a settlement in the coal industry. In all industries they are forced to battle endlessly against red tape. They have been tripped and tangled and thwarted by many things which had nothing to do with their optimism or the feeling that the United States is doing all right. The people don't like to be lambasted by government spokesmen when they are doing their best. They didn't like it when it happened before, and they won't like it now.

As for being optimistic—reasonably optimistic—the government and its spokesmen should kneel and be publicly grateful every time they think about it. Only the most optimistic country in the world would have launched a lend-lease program, promised to rebuild the rest of the world in airplanes, recovered from the shock of Pearl Harbor and endured the battle of Washington in less time than it took the Germans, Italians and Japanese to get ready to strike the first blows in World War II.

Only a people with infinite capacity for believing in themselves would have drafted and trained a mass army, built war plants, converted peace industries, utilized woman power to replace man power in all kinds of jobs and tackled simultaneous wars in two oceans at once. If Americans hadn't been optimistic they would have been licked before they started. It's the national characteristic that makes all the difference.

Before they start talking it down, the government spokesmen had better be sure they know what they are doing and be ready with a substitute, in case they succeed.

REVITALIZED YET?

Benito Mussolini, who told the world in his writings that war was what the doctor ordered for nations needing revitalization, should be in fine shape, himself, by this time if he believes in taking his own medicine. The war has been brought to Rome for his convenience. From now on, wherever he chooses to go, revitalization will not be far away.

However, something may have gone wrong because nothing has been heard of Mussolini for a long time. The king and queen did the comforting of the Romans when their city finally got what Mussolini once begged Hitler to let Italian aviators help do to London. If Duce was reported somewhat vaguely to be in his bomb shelter.

It would be a psychologically perfect time for Mussolini to make one of his famous speeches from the balcony. He could thump his chest and stick out his torso to show he is full of spirit and taking his war medicine like a man.

Appropos of missing persons, Hitler hasn't been heard from recently, either. Last reported on the Russian front taking general charge of the offensive that the Russians rolled back on its point of origin—and beyond—Hitler may be having another of those meetings with Mussolini in the Brenner pass. This would be an ideal time to decide what to do next.

'INFERIOR HORDES'

A frantic radio appeal by Carlo Scorza, Fascist party secretary, has named Americans and British as the "vanguards of the inferior hordes" and implied that Russians are the main body. Secretary Scorza warns his countrymen that unless they die fighting they will be taken away to Russia as slaves, or perhaps end up by raising flowers and sketching ceramics in England. Wisely, he doesn't mention the possibility of enforced servitude in America.

The Scorzas and Mussolinis who pitted Italians against the world in a military alliance with Germany and Japan have made the ruin of Italy a relative matter. Italians are doing dirty work for two allies who openly despise them. Their cities are being blasted in a war their leaders provoked without possessing the means of protecting the country properly. Apparently, a great many Italians would rather be raising flowers and decorating pottery than doing what they are doing now. And they know for certain that the United States does not stand for slave labor.

Among the United States troops in Sicily are many fighting men of Italian descent—and perhaps even some native Italians. It is no accident that two thirds of the Italian prisoners taken so far in Sicily have surrendered to American troops. It is one of the major facts of the campaign against Italy. Its people may fear the Russians and dislike the British, but they know too much about their relatives in the United States to do either.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, July 23

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects this should be a good day for serious and steady application to tasks, duties and investments of funds and energies expected to have enduring and stable returns. This may be in association with old-established institutions, with diplomatic or political groups, where sound obligations and abilities are recognized. Well-organized strategies may be employed but earnest effort, based on principle and fidelity should win in the long run, with rewards of merit and lasting results worth working for with diligence and straightforwardness. In private affairs also let duty be the watchword. Elders and home ties will be appreciative.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which lasting and substantial rewards with recognition for past performances may be expected. It is a time for working with serious and sustained efforts, guided by quickened and dependable intuition, employing diplomacy, tact and stratagem. Sound investments, in lands, property and securities, are encouraged. Elders and old institutions may confer worthwhile benefits.

Physician Spikes Blood Donor Rumors

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THIS COLUMN presumes that every American, male and female, not in the armed forces, between the ages of eighteen and fifty-five

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

(or in some cases over), has considered giving a pint of blood in order to make blood plasma for the armed forces.

When a procedure so unusual and foreign to ordinary routine is carried out on such a large scale as Red Cross blood donating, there is bound to be a great deal of gossip and rumors which spread like wildfire, and in this case are often subversive to the war effort. One such piece of gossip which has come to my ears is the great fear of fainting on the part of the donor giving the blood.

In the first place I think I should say, having seen several blood banks in operation, that every care and precaution is taken to carry out the procedure with the very best technique: there are doctors and nurses and attendants; the donor is, if necessary, rested before the blood is withdrawn. A rest period is provided afterwards with refreshments of orange juice or not coffee or milk or whatever seems most appropriate. The amount of blood which is removed is one pint—approximately one-twelfth of the blood in the body—and by universal medical agreement can do no permanent harm. All these things tend to minimize the importance of fainting. As a matter of fact, a faint does no particular harm except that it creates an area of fear in the community of the donor.

Some London physicians have attempted to find out what particular type of donor is likely to faint and why he does so. Fainting is more frequent among donors bled for the first time. Neither anemia nor overweight has any apparent relation to fainting. The surface area of the body, which is a rough guide to blood volume, is somewhat smaller among fainters than non-fainters. The humidity or room temperature has no relation to fainting. Men faint just as often as women. The rate of withdrawal of blood has no effect as long as the amount drawn stays within the prescribed limit.

Fatigue seems to be a very important factor. This is probably because it causes a depression of blood pressure. Fainting is found more often in those who had their last meal four and one-half hours before donating blood, or longer. The blood pressure taken before the blood is drawn is no guide to the likelihood of fainting. A drop of 7 per cent in blood pressure occurs immediately after bleeding, but this alone will not cause fainting. Donors who come from hot offices or industrial plants can be protected from fainting by drinking some salt water about an hour before the blood donation is begun.

The fact that a person is pale before giving blood does not indicate that fainting is likely to occur. The symptoms that occur before fainting begins are a general feeling of heat, nausea and discomfort in the stomach.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Court Holds Retirement At 65 Is Not Compulsory

COLUMBUS, July 22. — Police and firemen may not be retired because they have reached a certain age, the state supreme court ruled in ordering the city of Toledo to restore Deputy Police Chief Patrick J. Daly to his old position.

A Toledo ordinance provides for retirement of police and firemen at the age of 65 years. Daly was retired on May 9, this year, on reaching that age, but refused to quit and sued to be restored to his position.

The court in a decision handed down yesterday, held the ordinance was in conflict with a provision of the state civil service law which holds that tenure of a civil service employee "shall be during good behavior and efficient service."

The decision does not affect other public employees who are under special state laws providing for their retirement at specific ages.

AMERICAN BRED by FRANKEN MELONEY

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

The sharp insistent barking of the dog broke in on his thoughts. He knew his dog barks, and this one wasn't the idle vocalizing of a pup who hasn't anything else to do, nor was it the guarded welcome that a dog gives a stranger. No. This was the deep throated announce-ment of displeasure that a Dane delivers himself of before he goes into action, and Christopher re-membered, with an anxious frown, that Rowena had trotted out after Ann.

He left the eggs to care for them-selves, and started for the farmer's cottage. The door was open. He heard a man's hoarse shout of panic and Ann's voice rising in im-portant entreaty. "Down Rowena! Down Rowena!"

The dog had Tompkins cowering in a corner and was snarling at him with bared teeth. "Come here!" Christopher commanded. Rowena trotted to his side, meek as a lamb, and so did Ann. He had to smile, and then he could see the realiza-tion in Ann's eyes of her automatic response.

She flushed angrily. "Rowena slipped her collar, that was all. You needn't have bothered." She ad-justed the chain around the dog's neck, and Christopher could see that her hands were trembling. "How did all this get started?" he asked sternly.

"The dog attacked me!" Tompkins burst out in a thick voice. "And I'm going to fill her full of lead!"

Christopher regarded the swollen ugly face with contempt. "Get out of here or I'll finish what the dog began," he ordered in terms which even an enraged ruffian had to re-spect. The man's bluster wilted to a sniveling fear. It was plain that the dog might be the lesser of two evils.

"Did he get nasty?" Christopher demanded, as Tompkins beat a hasty departure, with his bags knocking against unsteady legs.

"Very," Ann admitted. She felt a catch in her throat. There was something about a man and a dog when they became protective that was hard to resist. It had been so long since she had had anyone to lean on, so long since anyone had offered to fight her battle for her. There was Tom, of course. But Tom didn't fight battles, he smoothed things over so that there'd be no battles. He'd have called the farmer, "My good man," for example, and have given him ten dollars extra to clear out of the place. I like the other way better, Ann decided. More oomph!

The eggs had become a tan leath-er omelette in their absence but they ate it anyway, and, unashamedly, Christopher dunked the heel of the bread into his steaming cup of coffee.

"Mind?" he queried. "I'm not crazy about it but go ahead if you're having fun." "Ever dunk yourself?"

"No. I don't like to get my hair wet." She giggled foolishly. She hadn't giggled, really giggled, since her father's death. "What are you going to do now?" Christopher asked, while he dried and she washed.

"I told you. Milk three cows and feed nine horses."

"After that, though?"

"Find someone to care for the stock until I can dispose of it, and then go on about the business of selling the place. I should have sold the animals a long time ago, but I held on, hoping against reason that—"

She didn't put her hopes into words. They had been forlorn and fruitless things, a sort of make-believe that time would bring its own solutions, and that somehow she could make enough money to hold things together.

Christopher held a glass to the light and squinted at it. "It's a bad time to sell property," he remarked.

"When you have to sell things, it's always a bad time to sell them." Ann spoke from life's recent and slightly bitter experience.

"Well, why don't you rent the place and let somebody else hold the responsibility until things perk up for you?"

"Oh, because there isn't anybody wanting to rent an establishment like this. It's a farm, not a resort."

for three months of the year. And anyway, when you make a decision, a good clean cut is better than a long drawn out tearing of things that go deep into you."

"That's true," Christopher con-ceded. "But maybe you don't have to do as much tearing as you think. Someone is probably looking for just such a place as this. There's the right person for everything in life."

That was very close to a plati-tude from the lips of Christopher Wain, Ann decided. "Well, if there is, I haven't found him," she said shortly. "You'd better be getting on, now."

"Where?"

"Wherever you were going when you didn't go there."

"Lead," he said, "this is where I was going, but I didn't know it. I'd be right proud to milk a cow or two for you, if I haven't forgotten how. And I've fed and bedded down a few horses in my time."

"I wouldn't dream of putting you out," said Ann.

Christopher smiled affably. "Then I'll stay," said he.

Ann found her milking stool somewhat precarious. It had three legs, and seemed to want to balance on only two of them. She had been fourteen when, under her father's tutelage, she had milked her first cow. Now she discovered that there was much in bovine technique that could be forgotten during a lapse of eight years. The milk, instead of pouring fulsomely into the pail before her, seemed to remain an unobtainable quantity within the cow. Also, a cow's tail was a more important factor in milking than she remembered it to be. It swished incessantly, tickling her cheek, and on the off strokes whipping across her neck with the sting of a lash.

"This is definitely a three handed business," she concluded, as the cow seemed about to sit on her lap, and then, with an abrupt change of mind, planted one foot in the milk pail instead.

"Oh, such a nice Bossy," she ironi-cally applauded.

There was a chuckle from the next stall, and the slap of an au-thoritative hand. Then silence, and the efficient oscillating sound of milk splashing into a pail. She was still struggling with Bossy's non-cooperative right hind leg, when the quick spurts of milk in Christopher's pail became ostenta-tiously foam-deadened.

His kind of efficiency was un-bearable. "I suppose," she threw out in a cutting non sequitur, "that your driving record is absolutely clear, too. How come you didn't throw it up to me—the jam I got in today?"

"As a matter of fact," he con-fessed, "I almost got arrested my-self this morning."

"For what?"

"Speeding."

"How fast were you going?"

"About a hundred an hour."

She snorted. "In what?"

"My car."

She snorted again.

"You don't believe me," he said grievously.

"I wouldn't believe you on a bet."

"But why not?" he asked her curiously.

"Don't be silly," she answered, woman-like. "Let's be quiet for a time." It was next to impossible to talk and milk together, a little like the game children play of patting their heads and rubbing circles over their tummies at the same time.

A thin stream played across her ankle. "Bad aim, sister," she mut-tered. But she was getting back to the knack of it. By this time, she was matching practically every hiss into Christopher's pail with one of her own.

"I hope you're properly impressed with the sounds you hear," she mentioned after a small silence.

"I am," he said. "And I'm even more impressed with the cows, who seem to have an endless supply of the richest looking milk I ever saw."

"My father believed only in blood-ed stock."

"Good for him!"

"That's why I've shied away from a wholesale exodus to the slaughter-house. Even the chickens are aristo-crats in their own way."

"Are there chickens, too?" Chris-topher asked.

"There'll probably be hundreds of eggs accumulated, what with Tompkins loafing most of the week."

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Chris-topher, "what a place for the Baron!"

"The Baron?"

"The Baron Bismarck von Offer-in. I told you about him, didn't I?"

"Yes, I remember," said Ann dry-ly. "Your German Champion stud. You said I ought to meet him some-time."

"You must. He's magnificent. If he had a place like this to live on, the sky would be his limit."

"Dear me, what a fellow!"

"He certainly is. Would you—I mean I've been thinking—I mean it wouldn't be such a bad idea, if you'd—"

"Come to the point and stop bab-bling," she brusquely interjected. "What's on your mind?"

"I'd like to rent this place from you," he came out baldly. "I noticed some good looking kennels behind the stables."

"My father raised setters in those kennels," she said, "but only for a hobby. I'm afraid Broadfields would be a pretty expensive undertaking for commercial kennels."

He said nothing for a moment, and then he brought out in a rather strained voice. "You think I can't swing it financially, is that it?"

"I think that just the upkeep of a place like this is an enormous responsibility," she explained tact-fully. "After all, you mentioned that you were very happily en-sconced in some place over in Westchester, so why change?"

"I said nothing about being par-ticularly happy over there," he de-nied a little petulantly. "A farm like this would be heaven next to it, but if you'd rather not rent it, that's that."

She frowned. "That's not the point. You know perfectly well it would be a godsend to me to have anyone living on the place. But it's impossible for you to take it over; it needs two men just to take care of the grounds and the stock."

"I have two men," Christopher broke in. "My kennel men," he amended quickly. "I'd rent as is, assume full responsibility for animals and feed, and pay whatever you feel is fair."

Volunteers Finish Task of Mailing No. 3 Ration Books

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, July 22.—The huge task of mailing approximately 7,000,000 No. 3 war ration books to Ohioans was completed today.

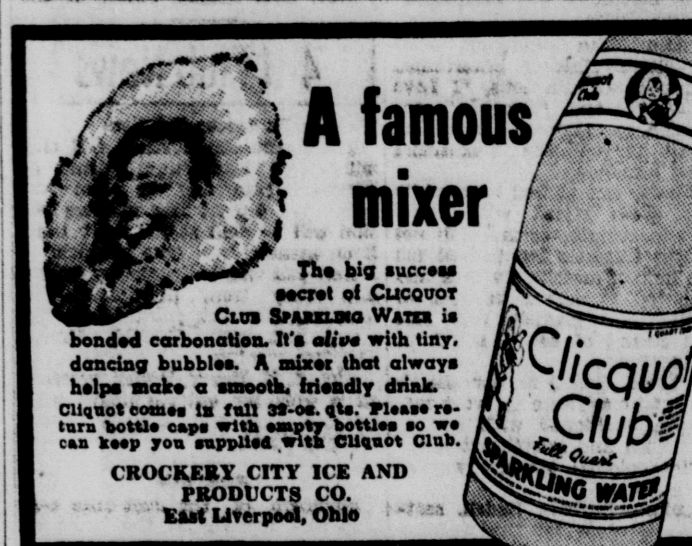

More volunteer workers than were needed turned out last night as the job that began June 7 was end-ed on schedule. Joseph L. Cannon of Columbus, state mailing man-ager for the Office of Price admin-istration, reported.

Officials previously predicted the mailing would not be handled by the July deadline set by the OPA, but large numbers of volunteers reported in the past few days, mak-ing it possible to finish on time, Cannon said.

He asserted 48,525 volunteers working 145,575 hours processed 6,897,109 books in about six weeks, leaving only a few hundred appli-cations that were in error or lack-ing information to be mailed.

M. A. Pixley, Columbus district OPA administrative officer, esti-mated there are 200,000 applications still to be handled and asked those failing to receive ration books to wait until Aug. 1 before checking with local ration boards concern-ing the books. OPA offices will pro-cess books after the mailing cen-ter closes.

Pretty Home Setting Marks Cope-Doyle Marriage Rites

In a beautiful setting of evergreens, baskets of gladioli and lighted tapers, banked before the fireplace at the Cope residence on the Depot rd., Mary Lou Cope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cope, last evening became the bride of Corp. Jack Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle of Washington ave.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist church.

Following the ceremony, Miss Donna Rose Haessly entertained with two vocal selections, "I Love You Truly" and "Because," accompanied by Miss Grace Pales, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was attired in a white tulle gown styled with three quarter length sleeves and full skirt. Her fingertip length veil fell from a halo of matching veiling and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and gladioli. She also wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. L. M. Bedell as her sister's matron-of-honor wore an ivory tulle gown fashioned with a brocade bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow roses.

Her niece, Barbara Bedell, scattered rose petals for the wedding party and wore a white organdy dress tied with a pale green sash.

Richard Krauss, who is stationed with Corp. Doyle at Fort Jackson, S. C., served as best man.

Mrs. Doyle, mother of the bridegroom, wore a tan silk suit and Mrs. Cope chose a blue crepe ensemble. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 50 friends and relatives. The bride's table was appointed in pink and white and featured bouquets of sweet peas and a large tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature soldier groom and bride.

Guests were present from Alliance, Salem and East Palestine. The couple left for a wedding trip and upon their return, Corp. Doyle will return to Fort Jackson, S. C., and Mrs. Doyle will make her home with her parents.

Mrs. Doyle, a graduate of Salem High school, class of '42, is employed in the office at the Mullins plant.

Corp. Doyle is a graduate of Salem High school, class of '40.

Class Enjoys Dinner At Broomall Home

A picnic dinner was enjoyed by members of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church last evening at the home of Mrs. R. W. Broomall on N. Ellsworth ave.

Games, contests and group singing were enjoyed, after which a lunch was served, in charge of the committee which included Mrs. George Koontz, Miss Martha McCready, Mrs. T. E. Miller, Mrs. E. T. Treblecock, Mrs. Ralph McGhee, Mrs. Fred Capel, Mrs. Ernest Cunningham and Mrs. Russell Moore.

The next meeting will be an outdoor barbecue at the home of Mrs. Guy Myers on E. State st.

Soldier and Sailor Honored at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Loop of the Damascus rd. entertained friends Sunday evening honoring the latter's brother, Corp. Henry Roth, of Camp Sutton, N. C., and brother-in-law, Seaman First Class James Blazer of Great Lakes, Ill.

The evening was spent informally and lunch was served to 30 guests from Salem, Leetonia and Damascus.

Picnic Is Enjoyed By Baptist Class

Thirteen members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Baptist church enjoyed a picnic dinner at Centennial park Tuesday evening after which a business session was held, in charge of the president, Mrs. Albert Zimmerman.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 17.

Lodge Plans Picnic

Onrushing Pittsburgh May Replace Brooklyn Dodgers

Pirates Are Immediate Threat To 'Bums' Trying To Finish Near The Top

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The house cleaning of the Brooklyn Dodgers may have made them as neat as a pin, but not nearly as sharp.

Even before their rebellion they had practically no chance of capturing the National league pennant from the St. Louis Cardinals, but now they look likely to have trouble finishing second or third.

Their immediate danger looms from the Pittsburgh Pirates, who may yet get revenge for the 23-6 trouncing the Dodgers administered the day of the revolt in Brooklyn.

The Pirates have won six of their last seven games, including four out of five from the Cardinals. Yesterday the Buccaneers battered the faltering Phillies 10-2 with Bob Klinger pitching five-hit ball and Pete Coscarart and Maurice Van Robays leading a 14-hit attack.

This shaved their distance behind the Dodgers to a mere three games and gave them a chance to move up this weekend when Brooklyn comes to Pittsburgh for a four-game series.

The Dodgers divided a double-header with Cincinnati and were hardly impressive in either game. Smothered 11-1 in the opener, they stumbled to a 9-7 decision in the nightcap.

The Cardinals lengthened their margin on top of the Dodgers to 4½ games by sweeping a double bill from the New York Giants 3-1 and 14-6.

Cleveland Wins

In the other National league game Hiram Bithorn, the Puerto Rican right-hander, bagged his 11th triumph as the Chicago Cubs beat the Boston Braves 4-1.

The St. Louis Browns, who lost an entire series to the New York Yankees recently in the west, gained a 1-0 verdict over the American league champions at Yankee stadium in the 10th inning when Vernon Stephens opened with a double and scored on a wild throw by Phil Rizzuto.

Lefty Al Smith pitched and battled the Cleveland Indians to a 7-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics, allowing only two hits and getting a triple, double and single himself.

Chicago and Boston divided a doubleheader, Tex. Hugheson taking the first for the Red Sox 3-2 and Orval Grove getting credit for the White Sox 8-6 triumph in the nightcap as Luke Appling batted in four runs with three hits.

A three-run rally in the ninth climaxed by George Case's single for the tying and winning runs brought Washington a 6-5 edge over Detroit in a night game.

Costantino Winner Over Chalky Wright

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 22.—Ancient Chalky Wright interrupted his cigar-smoking last night long enough to lose a fight and enhance the reputation of a promising young featherweight.

New York's Lulu Costantino was awarded a unanimous 10-round decision over the 31-year-old former ruler of the featherweight division.

It was just another scrap for Wright, who has stepped into the ring more than 300 times and has beaten Costantino twice. But the 21-year-old Lulu viewed the outcome as the means of getting another shot at Lightweight Contender Bob Montgomery.

After the fight, Wright gave the youngster a boost saying: "The kid's learned a lot and is improving fast."

The bout extended Costantino's winning streak to 10 and ended Wright's string of 11 victories. Costantino weighed 130½, Wright 129½.

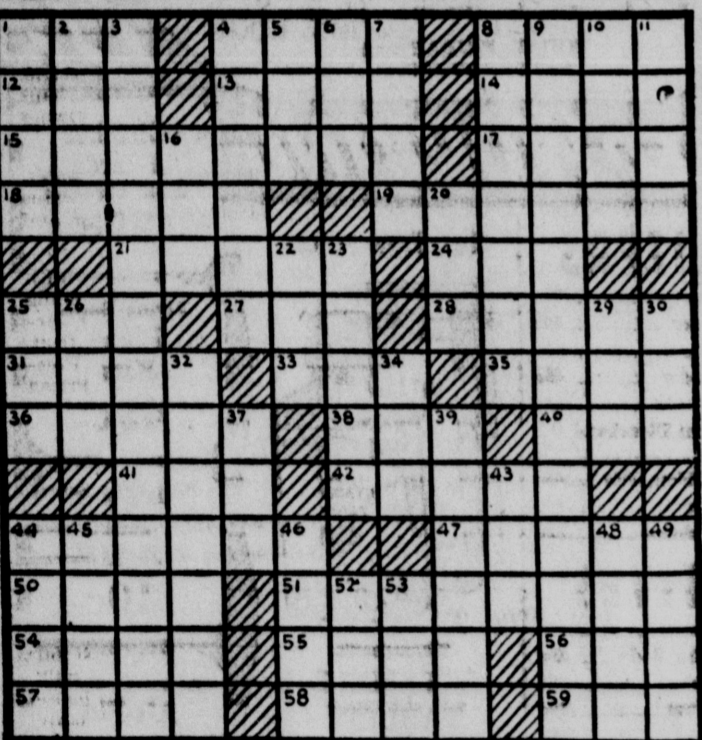

In another 10-rounder on the Card, Lloyd Marshall, 164, of Sacramento, Calif., decisioned Pittsburgh's Curtiss Sheppard, who weighed 173.

Fight Results

ELIZABETH, N. J.—Tippy Larkin, 140, Garfield, N. J., outpointed Johnny Jones, 143½, Pittsburgh, 8.

WOONSOCKET, R. I.—Frankie Nelson, 160, Boston, outpointed Joe Lynch, 164, Hawthorne, N. J., 10.

Big Guns Of Golfdom Blaze Away In All American Open

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, July 22.—The big guns of golf fired their mightiest shots over the Tam O'Shanter meadows today to start the $10,000 All American open tournament, major event of the dazzling three-ring golfing circus which winds up Sunday.

Sixteen of the nation's best women players also started on the first round of a 72 hole medal play tournament, while 16 of the surviving male amateurs advanced through the third and quarter final rounds. All three tournaments were carried on simultaneously on the same course.

AL SMITH HURLS INDIAN VICTORY

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Al Smith, the old lefthander of the Cleveland Indians, apparently wants to see how his boy boss looks in a beard.

Shortly after Indian Manager Lou Boudreau and two of his coaches declared they would not shave until the Tribe suffered defeat again, the 35-year-old southpaw marched to the mound and pitched two-hit ball to the Philadelphia Athletics to win a 7 to 0 shutout.

Opening both the Philadelphia series and the Tribe's second eastern trip, Smith aided in ringing up his ninth victory against three defeats by banging out a triple, a double and a single, batting in two runs and scoring once.

It was the third straight victory for the Indians, and the target was Jesse Flores, early-season sensation, who was nicked for 11 hits, including a three-run homer by First Baseman Mickey Rocco in the ninth inning.

The Athletics and Indians meet tonight and tomorrow afternoon before the Clevelanders move on to Washington for four games.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Because they couldn't even guess last spring what football would be like this fall, eastern college athletic directors put off their usual convention. But they'll gather here next week to re-make their schedules.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Kerr Petrie, New York Herald-Tribune: "Joe Louis' tee shot was like one of those lateral passes that finish up with a loss of 10 yards."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Denny Shell, 60-year-old harness race driver, has usurped "long shot" Walter Cox's nickname by bringing in three heat winners at North Randall at prices from $25 to $97.50. When he's not in the ring, Beau Jack wears glasses—but nobody ever claimed they were reading glasses. Gunder Haegg, who prefers gaffelbiter to vegetables as a training diet, could not get enough oranges and grapefruit during his stay in California. He kept a dresser drawer filled with them.

SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Sgt. John Derr, former Greensboro, N. C., sports editor, writes from somewhere in India that he has become a member of the "F. B. I."—but it doesn't mean the same thing there as it does here.

At the same post with Derr is Major Don Thurman, who was last seen ballyhooing West Point football last fall. The Fort Sheridan, Ill., post softball team suffered a severe blow recently when WAC Lorraine (Corky) Worth departed for officers' candidate school at Fort Des Moines, Iowa.

REASON 2001

In addition to the usual 2,000 reasons why a horse can lose any given race, Henry King of the New York Sun comes up with the news that swarms of huge gadflies have descended on the Jamaica track, making the horses so nervous from their bites that the nags don't run according to form. The jockeys aren't immune, either.

Holds Pole Vault Record

Approve Racing Dates

COLUMBUS, July 22.—The State Racing commission has approved a 19-day running race meet for Buide park, Steubenville. The meet, scheduled from July 31 to Aug. 21, is the first for the Steubenville park. The commission also approved an 18-day meet starting Sept. 4 at nearby Beulah park, and granted July 28 to 31 dates for harness racing at the Fayette county fair at Washington Court House.

Major Ohio Crops Will Fall Short Of 1942 Records

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 22.—Ohio's 1943 farm production will fall far short of last year, with every major field and fruit crop showing a decline, agricultural experts estimated today.

Winter wheat, dropping from 36,183,000 bushels in 1942 to 26,367,000 this year, and corn, off 44,362,000 bushels from last year's 185,752,000-bushel output, are expected to lead the downward trend, the Federal-State Crop Reporting service said.

Soy bean sowing increasing 11 per cent for a total of 1,598,000 acres but because rains prevented seeding of some land until June no estimate was made of this crop.

Oats output is expected to drop from 51,824,000 bushels to 44,410,000 bushels, while hay production of 6,805,000 tons would be only 7,000 tons short of last year.

Apple, pear and peach output will be approximately halved while a huge slash in the cherry yield is anticipated. Sugar beet crops are estimated at about one-fifth of last year's.

Other indicated 1943 yields with last year's output:

Barley—987,000 and 1,428,000 bushels; rye—1,290,000 and 1,649,000 bushels; sugar beets—110,000 and 595,000 tons; tobacco—20,278,000 and 24,056,000 pounds; apples—34 and 64 per cent of normal; peaches—388,000 and 679,000 bushels; pears—202,000 and 422,000 bushels; grapes—20,200 and 22,400 tons; sour cherries—850 and 4,050 tons and sweet cherries—210 and 1,090 tons.

192 U. S. AIRPLANES RAIDED JAP SHIPS

Confirmation of Recent Solomons' Action Raises Enemy Losses

(By Associated Press)
GUADALCANAL, July 17.—(Delayed)—Nine Japanese ships including a light cruiser and three destroyers were blasted and sunk off Kahlil today in a raid by 192 United States planes smashing at the key Japanese base in the Solomon Islands with the heaviest air strike yet delivered in this area.

(Both a communique issued the day after the raid and stories from South Pacific headquarters listed only seven ships sunk and an eighth probably beached.)

The United States air command in the Solomons reported 49 Japanese fighter planes were shot down in futile attempts at interception and our losses were only five planes—three fighters, a dive bomber and a torpedo plane.

Enthusiastic and excited pilots returning from the attack said the enemy's anchorage at Jakohina mission, midway between Buin and Kahlil on southern Bougainville island, was filled with flaming, smoking wrecks.

In addition to the warships destroyed, three small cargo vessels and two tankers were sent to the bottom.

License Permits Here
Salem police now have on hand permits for motorists who might want to remove car license plates, one at a time, for repainting.
Motorists whose old licenses have become illegible through loss of paint and accumulation of grime must have them reconditioned, the state department of motor vehicles declares, or police officers may order it done.

Permits, which may be issued to anyone with Ohio license plates, provide for removal of one plate for a week.

Hold Attack Suspect
A Salem truck driver, held by Beaver county authorities at Beaver Falls, Pa., in connection with an assault on a 14-year-old girl, has admitted attempting to attack a Salem girl here July 12, police reported today. An employee of a Rochester, Pa., trucking company, he may be brought here following disposition of the case there.

Recent Births
At Salem City hospital:
A son yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Holmes of Columbiana.
A son yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leeson of Leetonia.

WLB Will Mediate Akron Tire Strike

(By Associated Press)
AKRON, July 22.—War Labor board mediation was begun today in an effort to end a strike of 500 tire division workers at the General Tire and Rubber Co., second work stoppage in the war busy plant in less than a week.

Federal Conciliator Paul Fuller said he had recommended to his Washington office that the dispute which started at 1 a. m. yesterday, be certified to the WLB immediately.

Fuller said the workers walked off their jobs because the company had discharged six members of the CIO United Rubber Workers of America Tuesday "for violation of company rules." He said at least one of the employees discharged was dropped from the payroll for failure to resume work following a short-lived strike in the firm's band room last week.

Emmett B. Harper, local union president, termed the walkout "definitely unauthorized," and said the men were angered by the company's refusal "to take back a worker with 1 years service."

Company officials, who requested anonymity, said early today the walkout would affect the company's entire production program on truck, passenger car and military tires, and "will throw another 2,600 employees out of work" unless an early settlement is reached.

LIONS CONVENTION COMES TO CLOSE

CLEVELAND, July 22.—Closing their 27th annual international convention here today, Lions club members from throughout the Americas installed Dr. E. G. Gill of Roanoke, Va., as their new international president.

Last night the 3,500 delegates participated in a victory review in public auditorium, where tribute was paid by the organization to the military forces.

The convention heard an Office of Price administration official describe the OPA as the "best investment" American consumers have ever made.

Dr. Paul J. Leonard, group service chief in OPA's consumer division, told the delegates the OPA would save every person in the country about $154 this year—it present price levels are maintained.

He declared the annual cost of both price control and rationing is only about $125 per person.

The Fairmount Children's home held of Alliance won first prize of $250 in a juvenile band contest sponsored by the convention yesterday, and Catherine Bleeta of the home won a $5 prize in a baton twirling competition.

Norwalk Club Woman, 45, Faces Marysville Term

NORWALK, July 22.—Mrs. Hilda Went Franklin, 45-year-old Norwalk clubwoman, was sentenced today to one year in the Marysville reformatory for women and fined $500 after a juvenile court jury convicted her of contributing to the delinquency of minor children.

A 16-year-old Norwalk soldier's wife, witness for the prosecution, was paroled on a delinquency charge.

plane which attempted machine-gunning action over a Rome airdrome this morning was shot down by a German plane.

(The communique, recorded by The Associated Press, said Allied aircraft had bombed Naples, on the Italian mainland, and Cagliari in Sardinia.)

(Near Salerno, the war bulletin added, "enemy planes machine-gunned a train transporting prisoners of war.")

(In Sicily, the communique said, the Allied forces attempted, attacks with infantry and tanks in the central and eastern sectors, but Axis troops were said to have inflicted considerable losses.)

(An Allied steamer was reported blown up by torpedo plane attack off the southeastern coast of Sicily and a tanker sunk.)

Retreat In Progress
Observers in the battle zone reported a general Axis withdrawal in progress from the whole central and western region. Italian prisoners were quoted as saying the Germans already had fled to the east coast, taking all transport and leaving the Italians to walk.

With approximately half the island now under Allied domination, the single major highway skirting the north coast is the only avenue still open to the enemy for a large scale retreat.

(The Algiers radio said this morning the Axis forces already had evacuated Palermo, on the north coast, and Trapani and Marsala, on the western tip. This broadcast also reported an American Canadian spearhead striking northward from Enna toward Villavara, nine miles away.)

The British and the German forces at Catania were slugging it out in one of the most ferocious battles since the famous Eighth army broke the Mareth line.

Axis commanders were reported taking terrible losses, apparently throwing every available man into a frantic effort to stem the British advance across the Catania plain.

Theatre
Set in the far west of a day gone by, the starkly realistic new film, "The Ox-Bow Incident," starring Henry Fonda, the film tells the story of a death-hungry mob, caught in the swirl of a relentless man hunt. Mary Beth Hughes has the leading feminine role.

"Assignment in Brittany" will be at the State for the last time tonight. The picture tells the gripping story of a British officer assigned to uncover a hidden Nazi submarine nest.

Tonight, Friday and Saturday the western thriller, "Song of Texas," is scheduled at the Grand with Roy Rogers and Sheila Ryan in the featured roles.

Rally Opens, But Police In Cincinnati Are Out

CINCINNATI, July 22.—A state convention of the Fraternal Order of Police opened yesterday, with city officials threatening suspension of any of some 550 Cincinnati policemen who attend.

Nevertheless, five members of the force, currently on vacation, served as registration clerks in the lobby of a downtown hotel, and others were among those at initial sessions.

City Manager C. O. Sherrill cited a section of the city police manual which forbids attendance at a convention without specific approval of the chief of police. Another section provides dismissal or other penalty for any policeman convicted of violating any rule of the department.

WASTE IN WARTIME IS A CRIME—Don't waste electricity just because it isn't rationed!

HOW TO TAKE CARE OF YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE

Never leave heating elements on "high" longer than necessary. All switches should be "off" when cleaning the range—and use a damp cloth. Keep heating units and metal parts clean to prevent rusting and corroding. Remove spilled foods and stains immediately from the range surface. Food spilled on open units should be burned off. Never use a stiff brush, fork, etc., as you may damage the coils.

Even with the best of care, parts of appliances will wear. If any of your appliances are in need of repair, phone a competent electrician now. He may be delayed in obtaining parts, but will give you the best service he can under wartime conditions.

Workers To Reduce Own Absenteeism

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, July 22.—In a move described by War Manpower officials as without precedent in the country, employees of the Aluminum Company of America's Cleveland plants have been commissioned by their employer to reduce absenteeism and labor turnover "by their own methods."

Dr. William P. Edmunds, Cleveland war manpower director, announced the plan today, whereby representatives of the CIO Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union were given the problem of alleviating the company's critical manpower shortage and aiding war production.

"Labor has long been blamed by too many propagandists for all absenteeism and turnover," the WMC director said. "Now, at Alcoa, labor will have the duty and responsibility of seeing what it can do on this front, by their own methods."

Herman Clott, international union representative and a member of the committee, said, on behalf of the group:

"I want to say sincerely, in behalf of the union, that we are going to do all in our power to aid war production and cut absenteeism."

Personnel Director E. G. Cahill declared the company felt "by working closely with the union group, representing the employees, and by obtaining their wholehearted cooperation, absenteeism can be reduced substantially."

BISHOP TAKES OVER DIOCESAN DUTIES

McFadden Installed Today At Rites Following Welcome Last Night

Youngstown with the commission of vicar of Christ to teach, sanctify and rule those committed to him.

"Archbishop (Joseph) Schrembs (bishop of the Cleveland diocese), who was unable to attend, bids me speak to you his name. With heart overflowing with emotion and love, he blesses priests, religious and laity."

"The archbishop wishes to express, through me, profound gratitude to the holy see for acting on his suggestion that it was now opportune to establish a new diocese of Youngstown and defining boundaries that seemed obvious to him and advisers."

Among those participating in the ceremonies were Archbishop Edward A. Mooney of Detroit, formerly of Youngstown; Coadjutor Bishop Edward F. Hoban of the Cleveland diocese; Auxiliary Bishop George J. Rearing of Cincinnati, and Bishop Yu-Pin of China.

On the eve of his installation, Youngstown citizenry of all faiths last night paid homage to the prelate in a welcoming program that included an escorted procession from the train, a brief radio address, a civic reception in Stambaugh auditorium, and an informal reception by clergy.

Enroute from Cleveland late yesterday, the bishop and his party stopped briefly in Warren, where he gave an Episcopal blessing to 400 persons at the train, and was welcomed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward A. Fasnacht, dean of Trumbull county clergy.

The War Today
By DeWitt MacKenzie

SO it goes—a story of steady Allied progress. Daily we are tearing at the vital sinews of the Jap octopus. In his efforts to cling to the vast expanse of islands which he grasped, he is expending resources which he can't replace and can't afford to lose.

Since Pearl Harbor the Allies have destroyed close to 650 Japanese ships of all types, including some 230 war vessels. The enemy air losses have been grave. Figures change almost hourly, but the trend can be seen in the fact that since we began our offensive in the New Georgia area the first of this month, we have destroyed more than 300 Jap warplanes.

The cumulative effect of this will be great, when finally Anglo-American sea and air power is released from the European theatre and can be hurled at the Mikado.

Launch Third War Loan Drive Sept. 9

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Digging deeper than ever into the pockets of the average citizen, Uncle Sam will set out in September to break his own world's record for financing war.

Starting Sept. 9, the nation's third War Loan drive will seek to raise $15,000,000,000—all of it to come from non-banking sources.

The first drive last December was aimed at a $9,000,000,000 goal, but actually raised nearly $13,000,000,000. In April, the treasury department shot for $13,000,000,000 and got $18,500,000,000. However, banking sources brought in about $5,000,000,000 of each total.
